A small group Of men can change the world.

All you need to take over the world is a handful of brothers with the same mission.

Time has shown us time and time again that a group of highly trained individuals will and can take over the world.

This rule is almost absolute As is human nature.

Who would genghis Khan be without his hordes.

Genghis Kahn's greatest asset and achievement was uniting warring tribes under a single banner. He United the tribes and took over the most of the world.

Who would Napoleon be if he had no army to lead. If he had no loyal to the death generals.

History remembers the individuals the heroes but they often forget the teams that enables them to reach those great heights

One of the greatest things I learnt in my life is that a man is only as strong as his team. A bad team means the man will fail.
Bad team is a bad environment.

You should have a rallying cry. This is the Vision this is the purpose you wake up every day.

The best teams reinforce themselves. Blood in. Blood out.

Don't bring anyone on board you would not want to go to war with.
High performance demands obsession and dedication.

Great leaders make great teams. And great teams make great leaders. It's hard to have one without the other.
